

An ocean vessel loaded with cargo passes a tanker waiting to move into a Seaway lock.

A Coast Guard light station—one of many that used to be operated throughout the Great Lakes.